$60,000 BUILDING FOR MT. WEATHER

Washington Contractors Only Will Be Invited to Bid on Work.

Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau and Acting Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, is having plans prepared for a new building to be erected at Mount Weather, at a cost of about $60,000. Bids from Washington contractors only will be asked in about ten days for the erection of the new building. Mr. Moore says that it has been almost impossible to get contractors to bid on work at Mount Weather because of the inaccessibility of the place and the great difficulty experienced in securing accommodations for workmen. To overcome this trouble, Mr. Moore has authorized Prof. Henry, in charge of the station, to have erected an inexpensive building out of rough lumber for the use of the workmen as housing and eating quarters.

Sir Lord Gray, secretary of the British foreign office, in London, was sent a cablegram by the grievance commit-tee of the Building Trades Mechanics' Council of Washington today, informing him that non-union mechanics were being employed on the work being done on the British Embassy in Washington. The cablegram was not voiced as a protest against these men, but merely informed Lord Gray that such was the case. It is hoped by the grievance com mittee that his excellency will take this hint, and cable instructions to have the
